ProMedica Offering Free Healthcare Environmental Services Technician Certification Class at Fostoria Learning Center

WHAT:

ProMedica is offering a free, three-day job training program to become trained and certified in Environmental Services (EVS) disinfection.

This career certificate program is intended for participants who want to work in environmental services in a healthcare setting. An EVS technician in a healthcare setting may have responsibilities such as infection prevention, cleaning and disinfection, waste and linen handling, floor care, and more. Participants must be able to read and write in English and be at least 18 years old.

Trainers of the program will provide training material upon screening and registration for the program with the Fostoria Learning Center and will register participants for the final exam. Upon passing, participants will become trained and certified in EVS and candidates may be considered for possible employment opportunities with Environmental Services at ProMedica Fostoria Community and Memorial (Fremont) Hospitals.

Registration for the class is required and spots are limited. The deadline to register is Mon., Nov. 8. For more information or to register for the class, please contact the Fostoria Learning Center at 419-408-5540.

WHEN:

Nov. 15 - 17
8 a.m - 4:30 p.m.

WHERE:

Fostoria Learning Center
342 Perry St., Fostoria, Ohio 44830
